Greenlight Breaks Ground on Workforce Rental Housing in North Phoenix

by Mike Hunter

Greenlight Communities, the trailblazing Scottsdale-based real-estate developer dedicated to constructing attainable workforce rental housing, recently broke ground on its 14th property, located at 33455 N. North Valley Parkway in Phoenix in the I-17 employment corridor and near the upcoming $40-billion TSMC facility and campus.

The community, set to commence leasing in October 2024, will be one of Greenlight's smaller projects, offering a more boutique rental experience with its 159 units. This newest project continues Greenlight's mission to provide attainable living in the Phoenix submarket, representing the company's commitment to high-quality rental housing Arizona residents can afford.
